TWO FLYERS RETURN

Recover Bodies of Youths at White Rock

THREE COLLIN YOUTHS DROWNED IN WHITE ROCK LAKE; BODIES FOUND

Three Collin county boys, who resided in the southeast part of the county, were drowned in White Rock lake, near Dallas, about 10 o'clock Monday night, when the sheet metal boat in which they were riding was over turned by the wind and high waves.

They are:

ALBERT McGUIRE, 17 years old, of Clearlake, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McGuire.

CLIFFORD HALL, 19 years old, orphan, of Wylie, who had been living near Plano. His sister, Miss Dora Fay Hall, taught school at Morris this year.

ROY GROVES, 19, of Wylie, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. (Mark) Groves.

Guy Watson, 17, who lived at 2016 North St. Paul street, a junior in Technical High school, of Dallas, was also in the boat that over turned, but was rescued by Fred Slater, of Dallas, after he had clung to the boat for half an hour.

The three youths, who met their death in a watery grave, were among a party of ten from Southeast Collin on a fishing trip Monday night at White Rock lake.

They had gone out to set a trot-line when their craft overturned. According to Watson, only member of the crew who was saved, the other three youths said they were good swimmers and that they would swim to the shore. He was the only one of the four who clung to the boat.

COLLIN YOUTHS DROWNED THERE MONDAY NIGHT, WHILE ON FISHING TRIP

Funeral services for the three Southeast Collin county boys, who drowned in White Rock lake, near Dallas, about 10 o'clock Monday night, were made Tuesday night after the finding of the three bodies Tuesday afternoon. The services were planned for Wednesday for the three youths.

Their bodies were recovered Tuesday afternoon following an 18-hour serch by Collin and Dallas county residents.

Those in the boats which brought up the first body were J. R. Higgins, fireman at Station 16; H. C. Durham, fireman at Station 17, and Fred Myers, 903 South Beacon.

The first body recovered was that of Clifford B. Hall, 19, of Wylie, Collin county. This was about 1:15 p. m. Later the body of Albert McGuire, 17, of Clearlake, Collin county, was brought to the surface. Then the body of Roy Groves, 19, was recovered about 2:15. A pair of boots Groves had been wearing were missing. Groves' trousers were missing. Groves' trousers had been found in the water earlier in the day.

Pier Dumps 50 Watchers.

While hundreds of persons were aiding the search about 9 a. m., a pier collapsed, throwing about fifty persons into the water. None was hurt seriously.

Assistant Chief Wirt Wolff, who directed firemen in the search most of the time, said the excitement which followed the finding of each body prevented his learning who had made the discovery.

Relatives who had assisted in the search throughout the night took charge of the bodies, which were taken to Wylie, in the southeast part of the county.

Near Scene of Tragedy.

All of the bodies were found within 100 yards of the place where the small boat in which the youths had been fishing turned over and sank.

Guy Watson, 17, of 2016 North St. Paul street, who was with the three boys when the boat capsized, was rescued about half an hour after the accident by Fred Slater, 210 North Windomere avenue, who had heard his cries. Watson had been clinging to the overturned boat.

Watson returned to White Rock Tuesday morning and assisted in the search.

Every resource of the fire and police departments was put put into use as the search progressed. Fire Chief Jesse Coffman directing the early part of the work until he had to return to duty, leaving the task with Assistant Chief Wolff. Assistant Chief Bert Dellinger had charge of police at the lake. Besides the assignment of police to the actual search, the heavy traffic around the lake kept a squad of police busy. Automobiles of persons come to aid the search and others loaded with the curious presented a serious problem, Chief Dellinger said.

Tuesday morning the fire department made additional grappling hooks to use in gdragging the 30-foot water in which the boat was capsized.

The heavy rain which started in the morning was at its height when the bodies were recovered, making the work more difficult.

All persons having boats at the lake were called to place their equipment at the service of the searchers.

Fred Webber, who operates a grocery at 3231 Swiss avenue, sent a consignment of food and coffee to the lake and the searchers were served sandwiches and coffee by Mrs. Henry Garrett, wife of the superintendent of the fire and police signal system; Mrs. W. B Odom, 5316 Lewis street, and Mrs. Eli Pratley, wife of City Electrician Pratley.

Many of the persons had been without food since Monday night.

Boat Homemade.

The boat in which the boys were riding when the tragedy occurred was of corrugated metal, of home construction, and had been used by the boys frequently, it was said.

Funerals Planned.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Plano Baptist church. Surviving him are two brothers, Leonard Hall of Dallas and six sisters, Miss Emma and Miss Dora Hall of Wylie, Miss Annie Hall, Dallas; Mrs. J. A. Starks, Rockwall; Mrs. R. E. Flanaga, Garland, and Mrs. Emmett Connel, Fort Worth.

McGuire was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McGuire of Clearlake. Besides his parents he is survived by two sisters, Miss Juanita and Miss Oneita Fay McGuire, and three brothers, Jesse, Orville and Ferrell McGuire. The body was taken to the residence late Tuesday.

Groves was one of two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Groves, whose home is a mile south of Wylie. Besides his parents, the brother, Roddy, and five sisters survive him, Miss Oneita, Miss Nellie and Joy Groves of Wylie, Miss Ruth of Palestine and Mrs. Ray Pitts of Wylie.

W. B. Mitchell, prominent McKinney druggist and well-known citizen, has mailed a check for $20. to the McKinney Volunteer Fire department, for their splendid services rendered several weeks ago in the fire which broke out at his drug store on East Louisiana street. The fire boys are grateful to Mr. Mitchell for his kind remembrance.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD WEDNESDAY FOR OTTO COFFEY

WELL-KNOWN McKINNEY DRUGGIST DIED IN DALLAS SANITARIUM

Funeral services for Dudley Otto Coffey, 41 years and 7 months old, who died in a Dallas sanitarium early Monday morning, were held at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Coffey, 316 South Wilcox street, at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, May 28. The services were conducted by Dr. M. E. Hudson, pastor of the First Baptist church, assisted by Rev. J. Ben Snider.

Interment followed in the Fitzhugh cemetery at Forest Grove, the old family burying ground.

The large and beautiful floral offerings sent by loving friends and relatives bespoke the esteem in which the deceased was held by a host of friends and acquaintances.

The McKinney Volunteer Fire department, of which the deceased had been an active member for more than twenty years, had charge of the funeral rites. At the home, where services were held, Chief J. S. McKinney, representing the department, made an impressive talk telling of the life and career of Otto Coffey and of the loyalty of the deceased as a fireman.

A large group of fire boys were in the funeral procession that went to the Fitzhugh cemetery, aiding in getting the procession over the bad roads, nearly every car at one time or another getting stuck in the mud, necessitating it to be started again.

The deceased was a World war veteran, having enlisted in the aviation corps before the outbreak of the war, and serving for twenty-two months at Kelly Field and at Lake Charles, La.

He was converted at the age of 15 years, but never joined the church.

Besides being a member of the local volunteer fire department, he was also a Mason and an Elk, being members of the local orders.

He is survived by his devoted parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Coffey; by a sister, Miss Hallie Coffey, and by two brothers, Fred Coffey of this city and L. P. Coffey, who travels in South Texas for a nationally known firm.

The deceased had been in the drug store and confectionery business for the past fifteen years in McKinney, being associated with his brother, Fred Coffey.

Among the out-of-town relatives and friends who came here to attend the funeral services Tuesday, were: Mr. and Mrs. Milt Whisenant of Allen, Ben Whisenant of Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Doc Coffey of Ardmore, Okla.; Mrs. French Hardwick and daughter of Denton; Mrs. Jess Perkins and Mrs. Vera Allen, both of Dallas; Mrs. A. G. (Pat) Mayse of Paris, J. D. Dawson, Crowdus Drug company salesman, of Dallas; Mr.and Mrs. Rountree of Ennis, Albert Bellew of Allen, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Coffey of South Texas, Miss Nell Kerby of Forest Grove and others.

Active pallbearers were the following assistant chiefs of the fire departments: O. J. Moss, A. J. Sparlin, Isaac Crouch, D. M. Padgitt, John Moore, W. A. Beidon and Paul Wilson.

OCCURRED AT HOME IN DALLAS AT 5 O'CLOCK WEDNESDAY MORNING

Mrs. John R. Brown and daughter, Mrs. Pat Murphy, received a phone message this morning announcing the sudden death, at his home in the Southern Methodist university addition, of Dr. R. S. Hyer, president emeritus of S. M. U. at 5 o'clock this morning. This came with shocking suddenness to the host of friends of this distinguished educator who was widely known in McKinney and throughout this county by many former pupils and personal friends.

Dr. Hyer was for years president of Southwestern university at Georgetown, later serving as president of S. M. U. He was a great scholar, educator, inventor, writer and lay leader of his church, who commanded the esteem of all denominations, whose influence was state-wide in its sphere.

Mrs. Brown and daughter left immediately for Dallas to be with the bereaved widow and daughter, Miss Margaret. Their other daughter Mrs. Robert H. Brown, lives at Evanston, Ill. Her husband, Robert H. Brown, son of Mrs John R. Brown, of this city, at present is in New York City.

Dr. J. A. Old, pastor of the First Methodist church here, and long-time friend of Dr. Hyer, and Mrs. Old also went to Dallas today to visit at the stricken home.

WOLVES DEVOURING STOCK AND POULTRY NEAR FARMERSVILLE

Jake Connally, living in the Boggy neighborhood north of Farmersville, reports that the wolves in his section are doing much damage to the stock and poultry and that several small calves have been killed by wolves. He wrote to the United States department of agriculture and was informed that he should take the matter up with C. R. Landon, leader of predatory animal control, who informed him that there were no funds available for financial help at present, but that funds would be available on July 1 from federal aid and state aid on Sept. 1, at which time one-third or one-half funds could be supplied and a trapper employed to catch the wolves The local residents were to pay part of the costs.

GREEN FLASH BECOMES STUCK IN SOFT SAND IN TAKE-OFF

Old Orchard, Me., May 29.—After taking off on her flight to Paris, the French monoplane Yellowbird, returned to the beach here and landed at 10:16 a. m.

The Green Flash, which was to have taken off first, was still on the ground when the French plane departed.

The Yellow Bird, with Pilot Jean Assolant at the controls, made a beautiful take-off, speeding down the long smooth stretch of sand and taking the air just as its wheel touched the water.

The big plane flew over the sea just off the beach, then turned Eastward and later northeastward, passing over Campello Light and Statue island. A few minutes later it was out of sight.

Meanwhile, the American monoplane, Green Flash, remained on the beach. In an attempted take-off on its projected flight to Rome, prior to the Yellow Bird's hop, the Green Flash became stuck in the soft stand and its right wing dipped against the beach.

Pilot Jean Assolant of the Yellow Bird explained that after a few minutes of flying a small leak had been discovered in the main gasoline tank.

COLLIN BOASTS 75 ACRE GARLIC CROP THIS YEAR

Perhaps the largest acreage of garlic by any one farmer in this part of the state is that of H. A. Finch Jr., of this city who has a crop of seventy-five acres in that bulbuous rooted plant.

This exceptionally large acreage by one farmer is located on the Finch land north and east of the city owned by his father, former Senator H. A. Finch Sr. The crop is a farily good one this year and is expected to be ready to harvest in the month of July.

Garlic is a native of the East, cultivated from the earliest ages. The stem of garlic rises to the height of about two feet. It is unbranched and bears at the top an umbel of a few whitish flowers mixed with some small bulbs. The upper part of the stem before flowering is rolled together into a ring. The leaves are grass-like and fistulous like those of onions.

The bulb consists of 12 to 15 oblong cloves or subordinate bulbs; it contains viscid juice sometimes used as cement for porcelain and has a penetrating and powerful allaiceous odor, which, indeed, pervades the whole plant, with a pungent aromatic taste.

Garlic is in general use in several countries as a condiment with other articles of food. To many it is in this way very agreeable; to others it is disgusting. It is much more largely used in other countries than in the United States and Britain. In Spain it enters into the composition of almost every dish. Fresh garlic juice is used as a medicine, it is a stimulant, tonic and promotes digestion.

It is generally propagated by its cloves.

It seems to us like "Farmer" Finch is growing enough garlic this year to flavor the entire United States.

Mr. Finch Jr. raised only a small acreage last year. A number of other smaller garlic crops are to be found now maturing in this county, but none of them approach anything like the size of that of the Finch acreage.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Newsome of Dallas were in McKinney Saturday where they were greeted by numerous old home friends. Mr. Newsome was looking fairly well. He is one of our states most widely known business men and a former prominent banker of McKinney and Dallas and who for several years was an official of the Federal Reserve Bank of this district.

POOL MANUFACTURING COMPANY ONE OF THE BUSIEST PLACES IN McKINNEY

One of these editors dropped in to the R. F. Pool Jr., Manufacturing company for a few minutes, and to say that we were surprised, would not half express it. R. F. Pool, Jr., the manager, was as busy as a "cranberry merchant," and very polite and courteous to us. Mr. Pool tells us he has not been able to catch up with the orders he has on file since February 1, running at full capacity. Some fifty local women and girls are working daily, the pay roll amounting to about $25,000 per year, at the present time, $2,000 per month or nearly $100 per day, something for the people of McKinney to sit up and take notice of.

Mr. Pool states that, so far, they have done $50,000 worth of business this year, and that he could work three or four hundred girls and women here, if the institution had enough capital to run on. He meant, of course, if the capital stock was two or three times what it is now.

The company paid a good dividend last year to its stockholders, and all indications are, it will pay better this year. The company now occupies the entire Elks' building, both lower and upper floors, and you will be surprised, like we were, if you will drop by and see how busy these women and girls are. You will have to see them with your own eyes to believe it.

A dozen institutions like the Pool Manufacturing company in McKinney would make this old town look like the "green trees by the river's brink." There is plenty of money in McKinney, but it appears, at times that some, who are able to buy stock, are not interested enough in our manufacturing enterprises, although they pay well. Full dinner pails make a town, and McKinney could be made a better one if we would all get behind the Pool Manufacturing company and put it on the map, as well as others seeking to come here. Drop by and see the plant.

Now is the time to begin planning for the 1929 Collin County fair.

What our farmers need just now is several days of warm sunshine.

County Auditor Sanders of Sherman was an official visitor at the Collin county court house here Friday.

W. O. W. members of this city on June 6 will be hosts to the North Texas Fild day gathering of that fraternal order. Between 2,000 or 3,000 visitors are expected here.

On May 1 there were 196 regularly organized dairy bull circles in 84 Texas counties, and 814 circle bulls, according to county agents and district agents of the Extension service.

County home demonstration and farm agency work have become fundamental to the agricultural well being of our nation. Let's loyally support both of them.

Judge McCord in his book recently published, entitled: "I Believe in Man," says: "If avarice, greed, lust, and hate are woven into the warp and woof of your life, then you are in bondage."

Census taking will be on next year when Uncle Sam will count his subjects again. This is his custom every tenth year. The work will require an army of enumerators to perform.

In the year ended June 30, 1928, more than 93,000 carloads of apples were carried by the railroads of the United States from the nation's orchards to the consuming public. Many of these apples traveled 2,500 miles.

The Farmersville band won first prize at the recent East Texas Chamber of Commerce annual meeting at Bryan. The band is a great advertisement for Farmersville and the Chamber of Commerce there, sponsoring.

Strange news is reported these days. Here is a recent example: There are enough Negro Jews in New York City to maintain a Hebrew synagogue where services on Friday, Saturday and Sunday are conducted in the Hebrew language by a colored rabbi.

The farm women believe firmly that a good book is one of the best and most inspiring things in life. They are determined to have it for their children—and when they are really determined, they succeed in spite of everything.—Mary M. Atkeson in The Woman on the Farm.

The population of the United States is increasing at the rate of nearly 1,400,000 persons annually—or one person to every twenty-three seconds. By 1936—when the next national census is taken—the population will be thirty times that of 1790, and nearly twice that of 1890.

Jumbo grasshoppers have been reported from some sections of Central West Texas. Farmers should be on the lookout for this pest advancing from grass lands into cultigated crops. Where found destructive the plowing of a protective furrow or the sowing of poison bran mash will be effective, the Extension entomologists says.

An idea of the rapid thinning out of the ranks of the old soldiers of the Civil war can better be realized when it is stated that the annual meeting of the Grand Army of the Republic, held last week at Dallas, only nineteen veterans were present. This G. A. R. organization of Union soldiers had at one time 2,000 at their Texas annual meetings. The surviving soldiers of that war on both sides are now almost altogether in their eighties, and some as old as ninety, or over. What few survivors that are left are too feeble to permit of travel or gettin gaway from their home or from under the care of their own home folks or regular attendants.

There are thousands of acres of East Collin land lying out uncultivated and wasting away which will never be of further use until it is fenced, terraced and planted to sweet clover. The most of this land is owned by the big loan companies who are holding it at a prohibitive price because of heavy loans against it. The big boys are going to have to come down off their high horse and put the land down to its real value before it will ever be made productive again.—Farmersville Times.

The Pool factory of McKinney is turning out neckties, handkerchiefs, sox, shirts and other articles of men's wearing appearel of such a high degree of quality that all of its proffered orders can not be filled. Our local Pool factory is all right in every way except in capacity. It needs to be enlarged so that more McKinney people can be employed in its operation and its output increased so that the demands upon it can be met for the goods it manufactures.

Howard Lee Dunn returned Friday from Greenville where he visited Howell Watkins and Isaac Farley.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wilson of Princeton were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Odus Stiff Saturday night and Sunday.

Rev. W. O. Majors filled his appointment here Saturday night, but services were rained out Sunday morning and evening.

Miss Leta Vermillion who has been in school at Denton returned home Sunday.

Mrs. I. W. Walker and children returned from Blue Ridge where she has spent the past 3 weeks visiting Miss Othel Marie King was a guest of her aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Cooper at Plano several days of last week.

Dr. J. T. Mantooth left Sunday for Dallas where he will attend a medical clinic for the next 2 weeks.

Mrs. Will King and children, Miss Othel Marie and Arlin, visited her mother, Mrs. Kuyrkendall of Blue Ridge, Friday.

Nearly everyone in our community have a job, killing weeds and grass either with a hoe or plow. As it is raining again we will have another rest.

Mr. and Mrs. Odus Stiff are entertaining a pretty baby girl, Rynell, since Friday. Cuynn, who is nearly 8 years old is very proud of his baby sister.

Several club members attended the "Breakfast Demonstration" given by Mrs. McGee at the home of Mrs. Will Moreland last Wednesday morning. All club members should have been present.

C. A. Mantooth and family moved back to Altoga last week. They moved dto McKinney last fall for school advantages. Their three children, Ross, Misses Ethel and Nell, were all in school there. Their friends are glad to welcome them home.

Quite a number of our boys and girls are home again since school is out in McKinney.

The following is an extract of the address before the McKinney Rotary club last Friday by Dewitt Huckabee, field representative of the Meadolake Milk Products company of Sherman. Mr. Huckabee was born and reared near Pike in Collin county. He was known to most of the McKinney Rotarians to whom he spoke and was listened to by them with a rare degree of interest and profit. Mr. Huckabee is a pleasing speaker who is thoroughly familiar with farm dairying which he is helping to develop in our sister county to the north:

Big Sherman Plant.

Meadolake Milk Products company opened its doors to receive milk January 15, 1928, receiving on that date about 3,500 lbs. of milk. All of this production came from farmers of Grayson county, and has gradually increased to something over 55,000 pounds of milk daily to the two whole milk markets in that county.

A surprising thing about this is that the cream sales in the county are more than double the total sales of 1927, and the country butter sales will run practically the same. The whole milk income to the farmer is therefore over and above the original dairy products income for the county.

Growth in Farm Dairying.

It is interesting to know, too, that the development in certain sections for where one farmer in a school community sold milk in the beginning he has ten to twelve additional neighbors who are selling milk today. The number of cows sold from out of Grayson county during the past year will number something like ten times more the the number of cows bought by Grayson county farmers, and the number of heifers being grown out by the dairyman will cause the herds next year to be something like twice the size that they are at the present time. So it may be justly estimated that the production will be doubled in another year, and at the same time the indebtedness for the increase will be normal.

Some Problems.

Some of the problems that are confronting the producers of milk and also the manufacturers of milk products are as follows:

First, the production of milk at low enough cost to make it pay the producer. This problem will be solved in two ways. First, by proper breeding. The farmers of Grayson county are organizing bull circles or buying purebred bulls to mate to good grade cows and thus increasing the inheritability of the offspring to produce larger quantities of milk.

Second, proper feeding and the growing of those feeds on the farm, by producing the right variety of feed which are best adapted to this particular section. It is very easy to get the farmers to mix them in the right proportion to make a milk producing ration. Grayson farmers are paying particular attention to better pastures which include sown pastures on good land. It has been found that pastures are very profitable. In fact, the pastures that the cow harvests is the cheapest feed grown on the farm.

Also the farmer is growing grains in the form of oats, corn and grain sorghums. Hegira and darso being the principal sorghum grain crops.

Many of our patrons have made the remark that before the whole milk market was established there was no market for oats, but now oats sell for a good price the year round.

Also the wheat grown in this section enables the farmer to buy his brand at a reasonable price and cotton seed produced on every farm can be traded for cottonseed meal.

Value of Pasture.

By comparing accounts kept by dairy farmers, it has been found that rye pastures will produce a quantity of milk worth $7.50 per acre. Wheat pasture is worth $8.00 per acre. Sudan grass is worth about $13.50, while sweet clover pastures will be worth over $14 per acre grazed by Jersey cattle. These are net incomes from these crops which cannot be equaled by the average production of cotton or other row crops on our farms.

An interesting feature about pasture is that Johnson grass has proven to be a very poor permanent pasture, because of the fact that cattle constantly grazing Johnson grass will soon destroy it. The grass can't survive the tramping and constant grazing close to the ground. Therefore, this affords a chance to reclaim much of our Johnson grass land for clean cultivation again.

The third problem is the production of milk in small enough territory to concentrate economically with reference to a whole milk market.

It has been found that about twenty-five miles is the longest distance that milk can be handled profitably to both the producer and manufacturer.

Therefore, in order to be able to get it into the plant at low enough price that the producer can afford it, there should be a truck load or something like 3,000 pounds of milk produced adjacent to a highway within a radius of 20 to 25 miles of the concentration point. On routes of this length, milk can be transported at a cost of about 25c per hundred pounds.

Quality Essential.

Fourth, the principal problem before the producer and manufacturer of milk products is the production of milk that has good keeping qualities. That means a milk that can be delivered to the plant in such condition that the cream and skim milk may be kept perfect for several days. Cream that is furnished to ice cream manufactures, is the most profitable to both the producer and manufacturer, when it will keep six to eight days until it can finally be made into ice cream.

The condensed milk sold to ice cream makers or to bread makers is often several days old when it is put into the manufactured product. For this reason the producer, as well as the business men who are interested in developing the dairy industry, should have a working knowledge of producing good milk, which is as near free of bacteria as possible, and know how to cool and care for it properly.

A. A. WALCOTT FORMER M'KINNEY BUSINESS MAN

A. A. Walcott died recently at his home in Weatherford at the age of 74. He is survived by two sons, Oliver R. Walcott of Sherman and Joe M. Walcott of Weatherford; two daughters, Mrs. T. L. McPhearson of Point, Texas and Mrs. J. T. McAnally of Dallas. His interment took place at Tyler. The deceased formerly resided in McKinney for about 25 years. He and his brothers W. A. (Ris), Bob and Millard Walcott conducted the first marble yard in McKinney. Their first yard was located just north of the coliseum. Later they bought the lot where the W. O. W. hall now stands and moved their business to that location. This was the old home place of Rev. Rudolph father of Col. E. K. Rudolph, editor of the Tioga Herald. The Walcott marble yard sold hundreds of tombstone and monuments that are now standing in the graveyards scattered over this county. A. A. Walcott's wife was a daughter of the late J. B. Pond, a pioneer shoemaker of McKinney. Many old friends will regret to hear of the passing of Mr. Walcott who was a splendid type of citizenship.

H. A. FINCH JR. FARMS ON AN EXTENSIVE SCALE

One of our county's most extensive young farmers is H. A. Finch Jr., of McKinney, son of former State Senator and Mrs. H. A. Finch. He is running about thirteen or fourteen hundred acres of his father's land. It is all good land, which is located chiefly north and west of McKinney, some of it adjoining the city limits.

H. A. Jr., has a variety of crops, consisting of six or seven hundred acres of cotton, considerable corn, alfalfa and other feedstuff. And crop that he is raising this year that is out of the ordinary, is flax.

He has in about 75 acres in crop alone this year.

He has found garlic to be one of the easiest crops to raise, but rather expensive to harvest.

H. A. Jr., is one of our most highly esteemed and popular young men. He works every day in the field and is running about 1,400 acres of land himself with the assistance of hired labor. He is running three or four hundred more on the third and fourth crop plan.

He has already put up one cutting of alfalfa and his second cutting is nearing the period of harvesting again.

Their little daughter, Sybil, helped to make the program a success. She gave three readings that were fine, including the old favorite, "The Moo Cow Moo." Then she gave the dance "Amaryllis" that was a beautiful thing, also a gypsy dance with readings. Her little costums were beautiful. For the "Amaryills" she wore a beautiful flesh pink with little gauze wings attached and for the other dance she wore a gypsy dress with the head scarf and carried a tambourine. Little Sybil is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Osburn, her father O. G., or Dan, as we know him, the elder of the sons, having been raised here. He finished school here under Prof. W. S. Smith, now of McKinney, and taught school in the county, before going to Dallas take a position with the Texas Power & Light company under which company he now holds a very important position. CAVE-DAVIS

Miss Hassie M. Davis, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Davis and W. W. (Porter) Cave, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Cave of Princeton, were married at the home of the bride on Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, Rev. J. Ben Snider officiating with the beautiful ring ceremony.

This was a very quiet affair, only the immediate families and Miss Frankie Mae Bomar, a close friend of the bride, being present.

Miss Davis wore a lovely blue Georgette ensemble with a lace blouse of sun-tan shade. She wore a large hat of straw, with lace-covered crown, here shoes black reptile and her other accessories were in Sun-tan shade.

Her bridal corsage was fashioned of rosebuds and gladioli.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Cave left for a wedding trip to the Ozark mountains. They will return here for a few weeks' visit, after which they will be located in the Northern and Eastern states.

The bride's going-away costume was of sun-tan flat crepe with a small felt hat of this shade and the other accessories also in sun-tan.

Miss Davis has been a teacher in the McKinney public schools and has endeared herself to the youngsters, as well as the grown-ups. She is active in business, social and church affairs here and one of the most popular young ladies of McKinney.

Lovely announcements have been mailed to the many friends of this young couple, who wish them much happiness in their married life.

SWEET CLOVER AND TERRACING REDEEM FARMS

In recent years much sweet clover has been sown in different communities in this county. Sweet clover is a great drought resistant. It makes excellent pasture and fairly good hay, but the greatest benefit derived in growing it on your farm is its quality for fertilizing the land. It will bring worn-out farm land back to productivity more quickly than possibly any other known crop to which such land can be planted.

County Farm Agent Roy F. Saunders and the McKinney Chamber of Commerce specialized during several years of his administration in getting as large an acreage as possible sown in sweet clover. The Collin County Seed company of this city co-operated by selling the seed to farmers for actual cost to them plus freight expenses.

Sweet clover and terracing will conserve your rolling land and bring your worn-out land, either level or hillside, back to fertility again, if you will sow it. Sweet clover reseeds itself. Its growth is gradually extending over the county. In some communities it is growing along public roads which looks much better than Johnson grass and weeds infesting the right-of-way.

LATE JOHN E. WILSON HALTED IN THE SOMBRE SHADOW OF DEATH TO HELP M'KINNEY PUBLIC LIBRARY

ACCOMPLISHED MUCH IN BRIEF 30 YEAR SPAN OF LIFE DESPITE CONSTANT PHYSICAL SUFFERING AND HANDICAPS THAT WOULD HAVE UTTERLY CRUSHED A LESS LION-HEARTED HUMAN BEING.

John E. Wilson, who recently died in the McKinney City hospital on May 14, at the age of 30, was a cripple practically all of his life. The entire lower part of his body, from his hips down was paralzed and he lost one of his legs at the hip. He got about by means of crutches. Yet he was undaunted in life by physical handicaps.

He graduated with honors from the McKinney High school and attended A. & M. College for two terms. He was possessed of an unusually bright intellect and an indomitable spirit. He was ever cheerful and uncomplaining although a constant sufferer. He had a genius for mechanics and electricity and was a great lover of standard books and high-class magazines and newspapers.

For ten years he devoted himself to business in the wholesale grocery with a marked degree of success under A. C. King of King's Grocery company. He was the invoice and price man of the concern, figuring the cost and profits with such dexterity that his work was never questioned by either employer or customer.

Our readers will remember that the direct cause of his sudden death was an ulcer in his side, on which a surgical operation was made in vain to relieve. It suddenly became necessary to operate on him. Just before he went on the operating table at the hospital he called for J. Ed Gibson, secretary-treasurer of the King Grocer company, and dictated his will; then calmly read and signed it, after which he announced his readiness to submit to the ordeal of the surgeon's knife, which held out the only hope for saving his life. He fully realized the seriousness of his condition, but was hopeful of recovery.

After his premature death his will was opened and read when it was found that he had named two of his brothers-in-law, R. A. Furr and Otis Nelson, together with his friend and business associate, J. Ed Gibson, jointly as administrators.

Although the deceased was barely 30 years old when he passed away and had been badly handicapped all his life by paralysis of the lower half of his body, yet it was found that he left an estate of about $7,500—mostly bequeathed to his widowed mother with whom he had lived and had tenderly cared for. He had made some small bequests to his only brother and sisters, brothers-in-law, nephews and nieces.

Books to Public Library.

As stated above, he was a lifelong lover of books and had accumulated a great many publications to fill his library, which he bequeathed, together with his book cases, to the McKinney Public library. He recognized in his lifetime the great value of good literature and felt an abiding concern in the McKinney Free Public library that has been established only two years.

In giving his splendid library in toto to the public library of his native home city, the deceased thus revealed the sincerity of his interest in the most substantial way that it was possible. He believed in life that the public library is America's continuation school for the masses, that it is the most democratic of the American educational institutions. It is the friend of every person who wishes to read and who is willing to read. Thus, in the very shadow of death, by his last will and testament, he said that if the schools will only teach the reading habit that the public library will help educate the world. The public library of America is the friend to every new idea, friend to every fresh point of view; nothing is barred because it is new, radical and different. It is free from religious or political intolerance and prejudice. It provides information on all sides of every important question.

It is these inherent qualities in a public library that appealed to this lamented young McKinney business man, who possessed one of the brightest intellects in literature and in commercial affairs that our city has ever known.

McKINNEY PUBLIC LIBRARY BENEFACTOR

JOHN E. WILSON
(Born February 11, 1899; died May 14, 1929.)

MISS MERTIE ALLEN BRIDE APRIL 2 OF CHILDRESS TEACHER

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Scheid have returned to Childress after a brief visit to the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Allen, here. This fine young couple were married April 2, 1929 at Hollis, Okla., but did not announce their wedding until the last day of the Childress school, on May 24, in which both are teachers. Mr. Scheid is athletic coach and history teacher, while his fair young bride is English teacher in the high school. Both of them have been re-elected to their respective positions for next year.

The announcement of the marriage came as a very great surprise to the relatives and numerous friends in McKinney of the bride who was formerly Miss Mertie B. Allen. She was born and reared here, being an honor graduate of the Boyd High school of this city. She also has her degree from the College of Industrial Arts at Denton, where she likewise distinguished herself in scholarship. She not only has a brilliant mind, but is studious, modest and possesses the many characteristic graces to a marked degree of her sex. She is dearly loved by her pupils and esteemed by all of her older friends. She taught in the McKinney grade schools one year before her graduation and is rated as a most efficient, successful teacher.

Her young husband is a stranger in McKinney, but comes of a good Grayson county family, who live at Whitesboro. He holds a degree from Baylor university and stands high in the esteem of school authorities, pupils, teachers and all other friends in his home city and also in his adopted home at Childress.

These editors join with the host of friends of the fair young bride in felicitating this excellent young couple on their happy step in matrimony.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the curtain rose, revealing on elevated rows of seats on the platform McKinney High school's largest graduating class numbering eighty-five. Led by R. M. Crabb, the class joined in singing "America," after which Dr. C. S. Weaver, pastor of the First Christian church, delivered the invocation.

Ryan Presents Diplomas.

Honor Students.

Honor students were announced by Prof. Lyman Robinson, principal of the Boyd High school. For the boys, Brice Crump won first honors for the year, with an average of 93.75. For the girls, two of the young ladies tied—Misses Maurine Faulkner and Ida Jean Weeks—who each had averages of 93.75. Seven students who had made a straight "A" during the term were asked to stand and be recognized by Prof. Robinson.

In announcing the honor students, Prof. Robinson declared that a 3-fold test was applied to all studeatns in the making of this award, mentally, morally and physically, paying a glowing tribute to the excellent standard of this spring graduating class.

"It is a class that is co-operative and one that deserves honor," declared Prof. Robinson. The average age of the students will range from 16 to 17 years." He then asked the youngest member of the class—Maurice Proctor—to stand, being the youngest member, and not yet 16 years of age.

Before introducing the speaker, Prof. Ryan, expressed his appreciation of the co-operation given him this term.

"We are proud of the term's work," he asserted. "From over 300 students in Boyd High school, only six were detained in the same grade for another term, in three of the five classes no failures were recorded, and there was not a single failure in the large class of eighty-five seniors."

Hon. Cullen F. Thomas.

Hon. Cullen F. Thomas, after he had been introduced by Prof. Ryan, expressed his delight at being present for such an inspiring occasion.

"It does not seem so long ago since I stood where you are now, but it has been long enough for my dreams and ambitions to become sobered in the hard school of life," he said.

On looking about for a suitable text, he hold his hearers that he turned back through the book, to the first chapter, which tells of the creation of the world and of the creation of man; that was a wonderful hour. He spoke of the being of man, the one who knows no little about himself.

"Let us think about man, what he is, and his position to things, for he's been very ignorant of himself," he declared.

"Once people believed that the lungs were the organs of digestion and that not in the head, but in the stomach, was the seat of thought. How marvelous is the human body, with its 12,000,000 cells; its system of digestion, which transforms food into flesh, muscle, blood, bones and brain; and the various portions of our body, such as the hand, eye and ear.

Two Natures in Man.

"And, yet, there is something far higher than the mere physical self. There is the intellectual man. How wonderful is human reason, which lifts, dissects, weighs and records judgment.

"There are two natures in man," he declared, "one good, the other bad; one up, the other down. Because of the varied nature of man, philosophers have attempted to describe him. He quoted some rather amusing definitions of philosophers of long ago, concerning man, such as: "A featherless biped," "An animal that makes bargains," "A combination of monkey, pig and tiger," while Mark Twain, at 80, wrote: 'Of all animals of the earth, all ages furnish proof that man is the most detestable.'

"However, I don't have such a conception of man," Hon. Mr. Cullen emphasized.

Woman has not escaped from similar definitions, and he quoted some definitions concerning woman, such as: "Woman is a necessary evil, a domestic peril, a deadly fascination," and "Woman is, of necessity, a parasite, a vampire and a thief."

"However, we don't subscribe to such thoughts," and he quoted the following definition of woman: "Flowers are the sweetest things God made and forgot to put a soul into, and woman is the sweetest thing God has made and has put a soul into."

Is Crowning Achievement.

Concerning the achievement of man and what great men have said of the subject, the speaker quoted from such great writers as Gladstone, who said that man is the crowning glory of creation; Shakespeare, "What a wonderful piece of work is man," and in the Songs of David, who speaks of man as being created a little lower than the angels and crowned with glory and honor.

After considering man physically and intellectually, the speaker declared that there must be something higher and better on which we can lay hold. The state of Texas puts great value on man's life, having set aside 15,000,000 million acres of land to train youth in the colleges and universities and training schools.

What Is Man's Value?

Answering his own question of the value our government placed on a man's life, he related the experience of two Americans who were captured in Mexico, when this great government set in power all its machinery to rescue them.

"A British subject was arrested by some African rulers and held. After giving 24 hours' notice, a British man-of-war set sail going 1,000 miles and carrying on board 7,000 soldiers. After landing they marched 700 miles through the desert to the fortress, stormed it, rescued the British subject and took him back home—all at a cost of $25,000,000.

"It is wonderful to think what man can do in a lifetime," he went on. "When Burbank died, 13 acres of his land was worth one billion dollars. Edison, who is still living, could capitalize his business for a similar amount.

"Yet, his material value is not the highest value in this life." He referred to the field of literature. "How poor would the world be without it yet, John Milton sold 'Paradise Lost' for $25. In the fild of art, we would indeed be poor without it." In the value of human liberty, he referred to Roger Williams, fighting in the wilderness; to Thomas Jefferson, signing the Declaration of Independence. In the field of religion—the most important of all—he mentioned such world-famous characters as Martin Luther, John Knox, John Wesley and others.

Wishes Class God-Speed.

With all these possibilities to make our life count for something, which one of us shall be content to be an encumbrance?

"But, I came to wish you God-speed on your journey and I wonder what you are thinking of tonight?

He warned his hearers not to be fooled by the false standards of success. He referred to the fact that some might be thinking of wealth, asserting that wealth has never yet caused happiness.

"I wonder if it is fame that you seek?" And then he told of Joseph D. Sayers, who died recently, and who served for twenty years in the American congress and in the governor's chair. 'I knew but two happy days in that time,' the late governor once told Mr. Thomas; 'The first one was when I took the oath of office, and the second the day I turned over the reins of government to my successor.' William Pitt of Britain was quoted as saying that he 'wouldn't give a peck of wheat for all the fame in the country.'

Only Character Endures.

"Only character can endure," Hon. Mr. Thomas told the graduates, the definition handed down by Horace Greely: "It's manhood, it's womanhood, that endures. There is something far higher than the physical, the intellectual in us. Is it not the breath of life, that divine spark that may grow dim, but which never dies?"

In closing, the speaker quoted the sailor's prayer, always uttered as their ship passed through a narrow pass in Brittainy: "Be with me, oh God, as I cross over; my boat is so small and the sea so large."

"And that's my prayer for you graduates," said Mr. Thomas, "as you go out on life uncertain sea. May the physical, mental and moral heritage given you rest upon you throughout your lives."

LOOKOUT FOR MEDITERRANEAN FRUIT FLY

CONGRESS HELPS COMBAT DESTRUCTIVE PEST AND KEEP IT OUT

J. N. Roney, entomologist stationed at McKinney for the season, has received a letter from F. L. Thomas chief of the division of entomology A. & M. experiment station, requesting him to keep a close lookout for a Mediterranean fruit fly that made its appearance for the first time in the United States in Florida about a month ago.

The seriousness of this newly arrived pest may be appreciated from the fact that Congress very promptly appropriated four million dollars with which to combat it.

The Mediterranean fruit fly is a small white maggot, that works on vegetables and fruit in such a way as to bring about their speedy destruction by a rotting process. It attacks all kind of fruit and garden vegetables.

Mr. Roney states that some infested fruit has been found in Dallas and local merchants should keep a close watchout for any suspected infected fruit that they might receive here in McKinney and elsewhere over the county.

Such fruits as oranges, lemons, grapefruit and limes spread the disease through their shipments. If the pest arrives in sections like this where there are no citrus fruit they will readily attack vegetables and other fruits that do grow here and destroy them.

YOUR HOME TOWN

POPPIES AND LARKSPUR.

This is the season of the year in McKinney when two of our city's loveliest flowers are in full bloom. We refer to the larkspur and poppy. We venture the assertion that fully half the yards in McKinney contain either or both of these flowers in bloom. In many instances rows of these blooming plants may be seen winding around the home, and again a special section of the yard may have one particular kind of these flowers together.

EASILY GROWN.

The fact that impresses us most about these flowers is that both are easily grown, many of the larkspur and poppy gardens coming up from the seed that fell to the soil last year. Knowing this, it is our wish if we fail to have plenty of these blooming plants in our yards.

FLOWERS ALONG THE ROAD.

While driving south of town on the highway a few days ago we noticed a few poppies growing by the roadside. We thought of Mrs. J. L. Lovejoy and of the City Federation and their interest in having poppies planted along the road in all directions from our city. The thought has been suggested to us that the roadside for miles in all directions from McKinney could be planted with poppies and larkspur with very little trouble.

THE PLAN.

All we need to do is to have our citizens save both the poppy and larkspur seed from their yards this spring and let our Boy Scouts and other interested persons and organizations take them and, in groups, go every direction from here strewing these seeds on both sides of the road for several miles. Only a few hours' time would be needed for this important work, which appears trivial when we picture what a scene it would be with so many of these flowers blooming.

PICTURE THIS SCENE.

Think of it! Suppose a drive in any direction from McKinney for several miles would reveal a long line of blooming plants, on both sides of the road! "It would be a veritable paradise" someone has suggested, and they are not far wrong in their statement. Such a scene can be accomplished with the cooperation of our citizens and only a few hours' work.

EASILY DONE.

All that needs to be done, we believe, would be for all of us to bring larkspur and poppy seed to a central location,from which point different groups of our scouts could take their quota of seeds and plant them along the roadways.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED.

"Why, it's a comparatively small problem, after all, and I don't see why this has not been done on a large scale before now," someone says. And they are right. Anyone who can picture the beauty of such a scene can not be opposed to such a plan.

FLOWERS IN OTHER SECTIONS.

We are told by George Reinhardt, well-known local business man, that poppies are to be seen for miles and miles near Austin and San Antonio, lining the road on both sides. Now, if the people of those sections can put over such a scheme, we know that McKinney folks can do the same thing. Who's going to start this project?

WHERE THE MEN COULD HELP.

How would the Boy Scouts get out for miles from the city to plant these seeds, we are asked? The answer: There are plenty of business men of McKinney, we know, who would be very glad to take these scouts out from the city to plant these seeds. And that's that.

A HORSESHOE FOR LUCK.

The real American boy spirit was manifested here early yesterday morning. T. L. Muirhead, manager of the Duke & Ayres store, tells the story. Into his store early Wednesday walked a little boy, with a book, tablet and pencil under his arm, on his way to take an examination. He was noticed to be carrying an old horseshoe, with several old rusty nails in it. Evidently it had been exposed to the weather for some time before he picked it up. He was asked why he had with him such a thing as an old horseshoe. "I'm going to take an examination this morning and I figure this will bring me luck!" And as he went up the street, he was seen trying to get the horseshoe in one of his trouser pockets, which was impossible, for the horseshoe was much larger than his pocket. For ingenuity and sagacity, you can't beat the modern American boy and girl of today.

PLUCKY FLYERS REMAIN IN AIR FOR 172 HOURS

FORT WORTH AVIATORS BREAK ALL ENDURANCE RECORDS

Fort Worth, May 27.—The world today is applauding two of its pluckiest young flyers, They are: Reg Robbins 26-yearold "self-made," flyer and Jimmy Kelly, 23, former cowpuncher, who have accomplished the greatest aerial endurance excursion in history.

The two men were forced to end their refueling endurance flight yesterday when the propeller of their rebuilt monoplane Fort Worth split and threatened disaster.

When they brought their plane to rest on Meacham Field they had been in the air 172 hours 31 minutes, nearly twenty-two hours longer than the former world's mark set by the army plane Question Mark.

They were engulfed by a cheering mob of 50,000 persons who gathered at the field and threatened to crush them with their enthusiastic acclaim. The two young men had dropped word earlier in the day that they were expecting to land at 4 p. m. and the news flashed through Fort Worth.

Had Close Call.

Fort Worth, Texas, May 27.—The incident which resulted in the monoplane Fort Worth descending after 172 hours in the air missed by a scant fraction of an inch of sending Jim Kelly to his death.

Kelly was out under the motor, greasing the rocker arms, when he leaned too far forward and the whirling propeller clicked against his belt buckle. That caused a tiny nick, which gradually spread as rain soaked in.

Had the cowboy-mechanic leaned an infinitesimal part of an inch farther forward, the propeller would have caught his clothing and hurled him to death to the ground.

ROBT. L. RAY'S CONDITION IS SOME BETTER

R. L. Ray, who has been confined to his home for the past three weeks on account of a stubborn attack of rheumatism, is some better today and his multitude of friends throughout the city and county are hoping that he may soon be entirely recovered in health again.

Bob Ray is one of McKinney's most successful business men and useful citizens in church, business and civic circles. He has made a state-wide reputation as a layman in the North Baptist church and as a leader in North Texas B. Y. P. U. circles. His men's bible class at that church was taught by him for years. He is a bible scholar and a scriptural teacher and instructor of rare attainment and force. His class is now being taught by Mayor M. T. Jones.

This editor has been an intimate acquaintance and friend of Bob Ray for more than thirty years. We appreciate his worth as a clever, useful citizen and a true friend. He is in great pain much of the time, but it is never reflected in his smiling countenance or complaining word when his friends call upon him, and they are calling in great number every day. These inquiring friends are not limited to any one church, fraternity or circle or any given age. Little tots as well as the mature and the aged all seem to be equally concerned about the state of his health and are equally anxious for his speedy recovery.

C. C. Harris of the Harris Funeral home, this city, was called to Anna Friday afternoon to prepare the body of Mr. Bell for burial. He was the father of George Bell, who resides in that little North Collin city.

50 COUNTRIES HAVE ROTARY CLUBS IN THEM

LAST 19 YEARS SEES EXPANSION OF ORGANIZATION OVER WORLD

With the addition during 1929 of five new countries to the group into which Rotary has advanced with its gospel of service above self, the total number of countries now included in the international organization is fifty.

Since 1918 forty-five of those fifty have come into the organization, and since that year not a year has passed without one or more countries coming into Rotary.

It was five years from its organization in Chicago in 1905 that Rotary stepped out of the national field into the international, for in 1910 the first Rotary club was formed in Canada. The next year Rotary clubs were affiliated from Great Britain and Ireland. Five years later Cuba came in, and two years after that Uruguay.

The countries embraced by Rotary and the years during which they came into the organization are as follows:

1905, United States.
1910, Canada.
1911, Great Britain and Ireland.
1916, Cuba.
1918, Uruguay.
1919, Philippine Islands, China, Panama, India and the Argentine.
1920, Spain and Japan.

SUCCESSFUL SCHOOL TERM AT BISHOP CLOSES FRIDAY

After a successful eight months' term, the Bishop school closed its 1928-29 school year out Friday, May 24, when a program was given in the afternoon and a dinner was spread on the ground at noon.

Mrs. Fred Ownbey of this city, who has taught a successful school at Bishop the past year, has been re-elected to that position again for the ensuing year, which will be her third year as teacher of that school.

Mrs. Ownbey had oved fifty pupils enrolled in the Bishop school this year.

In the program given at the school Friday afternoon, three little girls from McKinney gave readings that greatly enhanced the program, little Misses Nany and Dorthy Linn Sears, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Sears, and Louise Pinkerton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hirman Pinkerton, all gave relightful readings, these little girls and their mothers being special guests of the Bishop school for the day.

Mrs. Thurman Cox of Dallas is in McKinney visiting her sister, Mrs. Earl Horn, and attending the bedside of her mother-in-law, Mrs. J. D. Cox, who is a patient in the McKinney City hospital. Mr. Cox came up with his wife Saturday night, but has returned to Dallas Monday morning. FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH SCENE OF ANNUAL SERVICES

IMPRESSIVE PROGRAM ATTENDS BACCALAUREATE SERVICES

Eighty-five seniors of the spring graduating class from the Boyd High school heard Dr. Clifford S. Weaver deliver the baccalaureate sermon at the First Christian church, when he defended the youth of today and urged their parents and guardians to instill into them the strength of character to enable them to live the right kind of true, noble, christian lives.

"I am inclined to deal gently with the youth of today," he said. "It is not godly, not right to criticize them for things over which they are not responsible, and for which we older ones are responsible. It is our duty to instill into them such high principles of justice and character than they can walk in life's great bazaar and pass the show windows of life safely so they can make proper selections for their own good."

The exercises held at the First Christian church Sunday morning were both impressive and beautiful. the church, especially the rostrum, was decorated in beautiful blooming flowers and ferns.

By 10:30 o'clock nearly every available seat in the house had been taken, and chairs were placed at every opportune spot in the large structure in an effort to accommodate the large group of relatives and friends of the graduates. The First Christian church, it seemed, could not have held another individual when ,at last, the large pipe organ first sounded. Miss Tennie Strickland, the organist of that church, added much to the impressiveness of the occasion with her excellent pipe organ renditions.

The Largest Class.

As readers of the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette are already aware, this spring's class is by far the largest ever to go out at one time from Boyd High school. It is not only an exceptional class as regards numbers, but likewise in the quality of the

WYLIE FARMER DEPLORES ACTION COUNTY COURT

RELATIVE TO RETENTION FARM AGENT IN THIS COUNTY

Editors:

After reading the article in your paper of May 21, I am still at a loss as to just why our commissioners' court discontinued our county agent. It seems from their article that the contract was unsatisfactory and that our agent was also unsatisfactory to some parties. I recall that in 1923 Collin county was permitted to select a man for the place. The present agent was selected by the people of Collin county and his contract made at that time and has not been changed. It seems to me that after six years' of continuous service that a raise in salary would be in order in keeping with good business instead of a reduction in salary. I am for economy but believe our court has made a very poor step to obtain results of lasting nature.

Valuable Aid to Farmers.

The salary of $3,600 does not seem exorbitant to me, because of the heavy expense attached to his office, which he must pay. I presume that he is perhaps one of the poorest paid of our county officials, and in my opinion he renders the greatest service of any of them. The court seems to have lost sight of the fact that a lot of outside service goes with the work and is furnished by the A. & M. free of charge to the people. I noticed where a pecan specialist is to give a public budding demonstration in the near future. This service is furnished by the college and they have many other men spending their time with agents on speecial problems. Literature, blue prints and stationary is furnished, making the college's portion of the expense run way in excess of the county's part.

Unjust Criticism.

They say that considerable complaints were made about the present agent, and in the same article claim that the court has received considerable criticism for its action in the matter. I have heard lots of criticism of the county agent and it has made me respect him more than ever because it is unjust and unfair criticism, and I find originated in the last campaign, and from questionable sources. It was reported that our agent was against the live stock interest and I personally know of his keen interest in live stock, and of the good work he has done in this line. He has been accused of fostering seed campaigns for the benefit of certain concerns. This is ridiculous to one that has been in his meetings and knows that everything he advocates means better and cheaper seed. I have heard him criticized for catering to the rich farmers. This is certainly not true in my community, and I have not been able to find it true in any other community. I believe he has served everybody impartially and every time they requested reasonable service just as he has me.

The Real Objection.

It seems to me that possibly most of the criticism came from a service he rendered instead of from what he failed to do. I noticed that when, at our request, he assisted the staple cotton growers of Collin county to sell our cotton on its staple merits the smoke began to rise. I think possibly when the smoke screen passes things will be plain to all and our present agent held in high esteem by every person interested in constructive development of Collin county.

A. & M. College's Fair Proposal.

The representatives of the A. & M. college told our commissioners' court that if they would prefer charges against the present agent, and if the charges were of a nature that would justify a change and could be substantiated, that a change would be made. The court refused to make charges and the college refused to fire a good county agent without cause being given, and in the name of common fairness what else could they do.

Our court wonders how the college knows so much about what the county agent is doing. It is their business to know what he is doing and they tend to their business. They read his report each month before paying him his salary. We have little opportunity to know what he is doing. Many times he is right in my community working and I find it out a month later and then am often able to find out what he did and profit by it.

I am at a loss to know why any citizen in Collin county, whether he be farmer, business or professional man would oppose the things that our county agent and our A. & M. college stands for. If you don't know what they stand for get it from them direct, and not from biased critics or uninformed persons.

Friends Give To Bailey Memorial

Subscriptions to the Texas memorial fund for the erection of a statue of Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey on the capitol grounds at Austin have started to come in to Judge Rice Maxey, Sherman, treasurer of the fund, in a most gratifying manner, Judge Maxey reported Thursday from his home. The proposed sum of 100,000 will be raised within a short space of time, Judge Maxey predicted.

The association to erect a suitable monument to Senator Bailey's memory was organized recently in the office of William Bacon of Dallas, with Judge Maxey as chairman, Martin Winfrey, Dallas attorney, was made secretary, and Judge Nelson Phillips chairman of the monument committee, John J. Simmons, W. A. Thomas, Harry P. Lawther, R. L. Stennis, R. E. L. Knight and other personal friends of the late Texas statesman were present at the organization meeting.

All checks for subscriptions to the fund should be made out and mailed to Judge Maxey at Sherman.

PROMINENT GAS COMPANY OFFICIAL VISITS M'KINNEY

Chester L. May, general superintendent of the Community Natural Gas Company with headquarters in Dallas, was in McKinney, Thursday afternoon, on business and shaking hands with numerous friends here. Mr. May made his home in McKinney for six years, but moved to Dallas four years ago.

The Community Natural Gas Company provides natural gas for nearly 100 towns in Texas including Farmersville, Greenville and many other North and East Texas towns and cities.

Mr. May is a bright young business fellow whose old McKinney friends are mighty glad to know that he has advanced to such prominence and responsibility in business circles of the state.

TROOP 7 HAS HIKE

Troop 7 of the First Baptist church held a most enjoyable hike and outing at Prof. W. S. Smith's place, north of the city Friday night. Over twenty of these Boy Scouts together with their scoutmaster, Tom Greer, went on this hike. The boys had a great time.

Hikes are the order of the day with our Boy Scout troops, since summer time is here, and the boys hear the class of the great out-doors.

ALTOGA PARENTS APPRECIATE GOOD M'KINNEY SCHOOLS

C. A. Mantooth and wife have moved from McKinney back to their home farm near the Altoga school house, where they will reside until school opens again this fall when they expect to return to McKinney in order to get the advantages of our excellent school. They have been residing at 1110 North Coleman street.

Mr. Mantooth owns several farms in the Altoga community.

He has three children who attend school here: Evelyn, in the J. L. Greer (North) Ward; Ross, in the L. A. Scott Junior High school, and Ethel, a student in the Boyd High school. This is an excellent family and none appreciate McKinney as a desirable home and school town any more than do Mr. and Mrs. Mantooth. They feel very grateful to all our people for their cordiality toward them, and especially to the North McKinney Baptist church for its hearty welcome extended to them through its membership, B. Y. P. U. and Sunday school.

Courtesy, friendliness and cordiality are paying investments for any town having the wisdom and foresight to practice it.

Mr. and Mrs. Mantooth are not the only Altoga parents, who are taking advantage of McKinney's superior school opportunities. Numerous other pupils from out there attend our schools every year. Altoga has a high class citizenship as a rule, who are loyal supporters of good schools, churches, and other uplifting influences.

If You Go to Lake Dallas You Catch Fish

In several instances we have made note of the fine fish being caught out at Lake Dallas. They are immense, being cat fish from about 12 to 24 inches in length. We are told a fellow just can't get round bringing home some fish if he has any money, for he can buy all he wants.

Now that makes us want to go over. As a rule we always have the old fashioned fisherman's luck. But if we can buy a number of big ones, and bring back with us, we will be "settin purty."

Records of a Busy Life, Number 108

Eld. R. C. Horn.

April 1922 entered pleasant. On Sunday the 2nd, I went to the dedication of the new Christian church at Melissa. I taught the Men's Bible Class during the Bible school session. Bro. Cephus Shelburn preached at 11 a. m. At the noon hour a splendid dinner was served on the lawn. At 2:30 I spoke on the history of Collin county churches. After cofmuion at 3 p. m., Bro. C. S. Weaver preached. The 3rd was a rainy day, but I attended the meeting at our home church at 10 a. m. and heard Bro. Fred Hagan. A returned missionary from Japan, but now a pastor for a church in California. I visited old sister J. R. Darnall, widow of Eld. J. R. Darnall. I found her quite sick. It also rained on the 4th, giving us about 24 hours rain and said to measure 7 inches. I attended the 10 a. m. service in the rain. On the 5th, I called to see my nephew, "Tommy" Horn who passed away on the 6th, at 7:30 a. m., being 42 years, 3 months and 18 days. Just before he died he sang a verse of a song he loved. A large audience attended his funeral at the home of his mother on Morris street by Brother C. S. Weaver. At Horn cemetery I made a short talk after which his body was interred by the grave of his father, W. H. Horn, Jr., and his grandfather, W. H. Horn Sr., and his grandmother, Martha Carruth Horn. Another ½ inch rain on the 8th. During April some very destructive storms in West Texas and Oklahoma. On Sunday the 9th, I attended the meeting by Bro. Hagan at both services and went out to Bois d' Arc at 3 p. m. and preached. I was busy at home in garden and doing chores, but attended the Hagan meeting twice a day. I read and wrote for the press. I rested at night. On the 13th Ezell Stepp under a death sentence for the murder of Mills was sick in the hospital. On the 19th, I visited the sick in two homes. On the 21st and 22nd till noon I was busy in my garden. As the 22nd was Saturday I took a half day off and visited the "Sons of Rest" for a while. You remember that both white and black boys who did good work during the week up to Saturday noon got a half holiday. On the 23rd I preached at the First Christian church in honor of my 78th birthday Afternoon I called to see Eld. P. S. Shaw, an old minister of the Nazarene church. On the 25th by noon a 5 inch rain had fallen in Dallas and Ft. worth, out we had a little over an inch here. On 26th, rain on my 78th birthday. During the afternoon I walked over a mile to visit J. J. Sportsman, a Confederate veteran who is soon to answer the universal summons. These rains caused high waters that have caused many deaths and loss of millions of dollars worth of property. On Sunday the 30th I taught the men's class in the Bible school and preached in the Melissa church. Afternoon I called to see Sister Douglas, widow of Alf M. Douglas, deceased.

Some May Records.

This month entered cloudy and a rain afternoon. I assisted the Baptist minister in a funeral service over the body of Comrade J. J. Sportsman. When the ground was dry enough to do work in garden I was quite busy. During Sunday afternoon, May 7, I called to see Dr. T. W. Wiley, W. S. Coffey and A. M. Goddard all bed fast Confederate veterans. On May the 8th, another 2 or 3 inch rain. On the 9th, creeks out of their banks. On the 18th I learned of the death of Judge J. A. L. Wolfe of Sherman. On May the 19th old Sister Matilda Scott left her earthly tabernacle for a house not made with hands, near her 95th birth day. A telegram from Chicago announcing the death of T. C. Perry of McKinney. This was sad news to me as I had sold goods for his firm and spent many pleasant days in his home. He and I were close friends and just before he left home we had a pleasant conversation. He told me then that he was not feeling well. On the 20th, I ralled at the Perry home to show my sympathy for the family I also called to see Sister J. W. Field, S. O. Scott and family and W. S. Coffey. At 1:?0 p. m. I assisted Brother Weaver in the funeral of Sister Scott at the home of her son, S. O. Scott after which we went to the Melissa cemetery and her body was buried by the grave of her husband, Capt. T. M. Scott. We had rain about every other day. On the 22nd, I went to Altoga and held funeral services over the remains of R. D. Tompkins. After we left the pike it pulled two horses hard on mud roads. I reached home late, both tired and hungry. On the 29th Ed Scott, son of C. F. Scott died after an auto accident. May like April was a very wet month.

June Records.

On the 1st, I went to Plano to attend the funeral of John Henry Allen, brother of Mrs. D. W. O'Brien of McKinney. He was in his 73rd year. His body lies in Pecan Grove cemetery. On the 2nd, I recorded as follows: "Today is the 47th day that rain has fallen this year." This was 5 months and two days. Today is the 11th rainy Monday in succession and the 14th rainy Monday this year. It rained again on 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, and 10th making 52 days that it rained in McKinney to June 11th, 1922. Well we lived over it. The farmers lost no time when the sun shone. On Sunday the 11th, I went out to Bois d' Arc to preach in afternoon and saw 3 or 4 binders saving wheat. On the 15th, I assisted in funeral of Adron Andrews who was killed by a fall in Ft. Worth. We buried his body in Horn cemetery. On the 21st Z. Taylor Coffey died in his 74th year. I assisted A. H. and J. B. Sniger in the funeral at Forest Grove. W. S. Coffey, brother to Z. T., who was buried yesterday, died at 6 a. m. June 23rd I visited Jack Weeks and Dr. T. W Wiley, both sick at their respective homes. On the day that W S Coffey was buried, Mint Coffey, his brother dying in Oklahoma fell dead. Three brothers in as many days! On June 26th, we had over an inch rain ending a short drouth. Rain for 1929 to date, we have had 6 fair rains in McKinney and about 16 light showers. The rain May 9 and 10th gave us a fine season. A few more good rains will assure good crop, other conditions being favorable.

BEN F. WYLIE ON 1929 ONION AND GARLIC CROPS

WILL COMMENCE TO MOVE ON LOCAL MARKET ABOUT JUNE 1ST

A supply of printed stationery has just recently been turned out by the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette commercial job printing department for B. F. Wylie & Company, growers, buyers and shippers of onions and garlic, with shipping shed and office headquarters at J. B. Goodner's public scales and coal yard in McKinney.

Ben F. Wylie, member of the firm, lives on his farm about five miles southeast of McKinney. He has been growing and shipping onions more or less for twenty years. He claims that his firm has shipped out more Collin county onions than any other one firm in that period.

He is of the opinion that onions in this county will begin to move about June 1, and garlic will come onto the local market about thirty days later. Most of the slip onions will be pulled and marketed during the month of June, while most of the garlic will be harvested and shipped out during the month of July. Seed onions will will also be harvested in the months of July and August.

Mr. Wylie, who is one of the best posted onion and garlic men in the county, is of the opinion that Collin's acreage in those crops this year is lower than usual especially of onions.

According to Mr. Wylie's estimate there are about 600 acres of slip and 1,200 acres of seed onions planted in this county this year.

Ben F. Wylie is a clever, dependable farmer and business man with whom it is a pleasure to have business transactions. He has been a good friend to the farmers in his line of business and they like very much to have business dealings with him.

JOSEPHINE ONION CROP WILL SOON BE ON MARKET

G. B. Yeatts, vice-president of the First National bank of Josephine and G. B. Stinebaught, cashier of the same bank were business visitors at the county capital Wednesday afternoon. We enjoyed a conversation with each of them and learned that the Josephine onion crop, which consists of about 100 acres, will be coming onto the market in about ten more days. Tow or three farmers in that section have already contracted their onions at $1.00 per crate, field run, which is not so bad.

The onions are as good or better than they were last year in that section of the county.

Mr. Yeatts, who owns considerable farm land, is of the opinion that the general crop outlook in his part of the county is good. Cotton has a good, even stand and practically none of it had to be planted over this year.

Corn is growing fast and spring oats have been wonderfully brought out by the recent copious rains.

Both of these leading Josephine business men are regular readers of our paper.

Ed Yates, a substantial tenant farmer, who had lived on the Herman Housewright farm, one mile west of Wylie for twenty-five years, died at his home Friday night, and was buried in the Wylie cemetery Saturday afternoon. His funeral was under the auspices of the Odd Fellows. A very large crowd attended. Mr. Yates was 59 years old, and had many friends as he was a good Christian man. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. D. Shulta of McKinney. In the passing of this good man, Collin county loses another excellent citizen.

W. S. Cantrell and wife of Laredo, Texas, are here visiting the latter's brother, John M. White and wife for a few days. Mrs. Cantrell was formerly Miss Carrie White, who was born and reared in McKinney. Her husband is a prominent printer, stationer, and office supply man of Laredo. He is also a leading Rotarian of his city, and came up to McKinney not only to visit relatives, but also to attend the International Rotary convention at Dallas next week.

ELECTRIC SHEEP SHEARING IS IN PROGRESS

Charles Waide, son-in-law of the late Col. E. W. Kirkpatrick, is having his sheep sheared by H. A. Simpson of Sanger, Texas. Mr. Waide has a herd of 127 sheep and about 100 lambs. They are shearing from ten to twelve pounds per head, and are the Rambouillettes, being among the finest herds of this breed in this county. Mr. Waide has five extra premium rams.

Mr. Simpson is an expert sheep shearer, using the Stewart Shearing machine in his work which he does very rapidly.

Mr. Waide, who specializes in the sheep business, resides with his family in the old Kirkpatrick homestead, adjoining the southwestern limits of our city, where he has ample grazing ground. He spends much of his time in caring for his pedigreed herd, which he prizes very highly.

Sweet Baby Daughter Comes To Bless Home

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hill of this city are rejoicing over the arrival of a sweet baby daughter born to them Wednesday evening, May 22, at 7:30 o'clock in the McKinney City hospital. The little miss has been christened Virginia Bernice and weighs a little more than six pounds.

The doting father of this fine little girl is one of McKinney's most favorably known young business men, being engaged in the buying and selling of cotton. He is a son of Mrs. J. S. Hill of this city. The young mother, before her marriage was Miss Bernice Adams, being a daughter of Mrs. G. Adams of this city. Her father, the late Greenberry Adams was for twenty-five years cashier and head office man of the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette.

The young mother is an accomplished young lady who held a responsible position in the bookkeeping department of the T. P. & L. Co. here until after her marriage.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Hill are extending congratulations to them upon the arrival of their darling baby daughter and trust that she will grow up to fulfill the fondest expectations of her proud parents. Both the young mother and her babe are doing splendidly.

The Finch Park zoo, of which Parkkeeper A. S. (Mat) Wheatley is in charge, has recently received the free gift of two monkeys, a large eagle, an owl and five squirrels, the animals that heretofore have been kept at Woodlake, according to Grover C. H. D. Mouzon, state manager of the Amicable Life Insurance company for the state of Oklahoma, left on his return to his headquarters at Oklahoma City. His wife will soon follow to join him in their new home in that city. McKinney regrets very much to lose this worthy couple from among us.

ATOMIZED
VAPORIZED
Not WET . . . . But DRY
A wet gas is an atomized mixture of gasoline vapor with liquid drops of raw gasoline. These drops, separating at every manifold bend, result in uneven distribution and flooded cylinders.
A dry gas, the new and better Texaco, vaporizes completely. It forms a dry gas—a perfect mixture of gasoline vapor and air, which provides an even flow of fuel and power to every cylinder.
You buy the LIQUID but you use the VAPOR

Faster.. Faster..We Drive

Changed Motoring Conditions Demand a New Gasoline

60 . . . 70 . . . perhaps more miles per hour—mastery of the highest hills in high gear—quick-action power—all of this you and thousands of others demand when you buy a car. You may never use this excess power, yet you want it.

Faster and faster—each year a little faster—you drive over increasing miles of improved roads. Faster and faster moves the traffic of cities.

The new and better Texaco is an answer to these changed and changing conditions. In the tank, the new and better Texaco is a pure, non-doctored liquid; at the spark, a vapor that is so free of moisture that it can be truly described as dry. It is this dryness—this ability to form a dry gas—which, in your engine, results in increased power and responsiveness throughout its entire driving range.

Anywhere—wherever you see the Red Star and Green T, drive in for the new and better Texaco—the gasoline that forms a dry gas.

PROPOSE SMALL TAX BE LEVIED FOR SUPPORT UNITED CHARITIES, BAND AND FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Committee From Three Civic Organizations Ask City Commission to Prepare Petitions to Be Circulated Calling for Election to Pass Upon Charter Amendment to Be Held In Near Future.

Recently certain citizens became interested in the Municipal band because of the fact that the basis for its support has been weakened by the withdrawal of part of its financial support, hence its disbandment seemed inevitable. It's condition is as follows:

Part of its expense has been, for some years furnished by business firms and individuals, which has been supplemented from the city treasury fifty dollars per month. The question was raised that the city charter adopted several years ago made no specific provision for this disbursement. With this in view, the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary club and Lions club were asked to appoint a committee of three from each organization, constituting a committee of nine to consult the city commission and make full investigation in an endeavor to relieve the situation. This committee was named as follows: Rotary club, O. A. Reese, T. E. Craig, and F. B. Pope; Lions club, C. W. Graves, Clarence Dowdy, and Wallace Hughston; Chamber of Commerce, F. C. Thompson, F. V. Williams, Charles Cooper. This committee met and named F. C. Thompson chairman.

After brief discussion the chairman, T. E. Craig and C. W. Graves were appointed to confer with the city commission. This was done and the result was that this sub-committee reported back to the whole committee the following:

The only way possible was to ask the citizens of McKinney to amend the charter, authorizing the commissioners to set aside such funds for the purpose of maintaining the Municipal band. The commissioners advised the committee that under the law that an election to amend the charter could only be held once during two years, and if other amendments are desired they should be properly set out in the petition, authorizing the election. At the same time, the commissioners stated that the charter should be amended so as to authorize the commissioners to collect 6 per cent interest per annum on all past due taxes. The whole committee received this report and voted unanimously to ask for an election.

A called meeting was held on Thursday, May 23, to further discuss as to the number of subjects to be voted on. Aside from the members of the committee a number of men and women, not members, were invited to sit in the meeting. Every one present, including the visitors, were invited to give their views. Nearly all of those present made talks.

A resolution was passed and unanimously carried with rising vote by all the committee present asking the city commission to prepare a petition embodying the maintenance of the Municipal band, United Charities, library and authorizing the city commission to collect 6 per cent on all delinquent taxes. It was estimated that it would require less than one mill to take care of the maintenance of the above associations.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL TRAINING COURSE CLOSES

Following a successful week of study the Sunday school training course closed at the First Baptist church Friday night, when examinations were given in the different classes. The school was divided into seven classes, covering every department in the entire Sunday school. Beginning with an enrollment of nearly 100, each evening, the classes increased in attendance and much enthusiasm was manifested.

Chas. M. Bryan, superintendent of the Sunday school, in making a short talk before the school Friday night expressed the appreciation of himself and the Sunday school, to all the officers and teachers, the ladies who served such splendid dinners each evening, the visitors from Dallas who were so kind to assist in teaching some of the classes and the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette for the nice announcements made through their columns every day. He thanked everyone who had a hand in making the school the success it was and assured them all that it had been very beneficial to them.

Those who attended not only received valuable instruction, but they also enjoyed splendid fellowship together.

It was through the efforts of Mr. Bryan mainly that the school was taught this week and the church and Sunday school as a whole are very appreciative of him for doing so. Mr. Bryan is an earnest religious worker, being one of the most active and conscientious members the First Baptist church has. He spends much of his time in looking after the affairs of the church and is an untiring worker. He is also a successful business man of the city, being connected with his brother, W. I. Bryan, proprietors of Bryan Bros., hardware and implement store.

As usual, the ladies served another delectable two-course dinner Friday evening with strawberry shortcake and ice cream dessert.

The first study period of the evening was used for reviews, while the second period was the examination hour. Those who so ably assisted in teaching the classes were: G. S. Hopkins, state Sunday school secretary; Andrew Allen, and Mrs. Bussell, all of Dallas; Rev. G. B. Bradshaw, Mrs. John Green, Mrs. Jim Sportsman and Miss Euva Majors, all of this city.

Ex-Sheriff W. A. Kerby, who has been confined to his home with illness for the past several weeks, was able to be up-town Saturday morning. His many friends were glad to see him out again and hope that he continues on the road to recovery.

DEWITT HUCKABEE SPEAKS BEFORE ROTARY CLUB

Dewitt Huckabee, field man for the Meadolake Milk Products Company of Sherman, delivered a very practical fifteen minute talk to the McKinney Rotary Club at its Friday noon luncheon served by the ladies of the First Christian Church this week.

Mr. Huckabee is a native of Collin county, was born on the farm of his parents near Pike in Northeast Collin where his father and mother still reside. He attended district school, high school and college and taught school for two years but kept close contact with the farm and livestock breeding.

He was appointed as one of 170 county farm agents in the A. & M. College extension work and assigned to Van Zandt county where he remained for nearly three years. When the Meadolake Milk Products Company cast about over the state to find a suitable field man for their plant in Grayson county they drafted Mr. Huckabee. He has been working now for more than a year in Grayson county fostering farm dairying and the breeding of better milk cows among the farmers of that county.

The big concern which he now represents is now buying milk from the farmers at the rate of about 5,000 gallons per day for which it is paying them around $7,000 per week in cash. Mr. Huckabee is influential in causing this rapid increase in milk production in that county, by helping the farmers to select good cattle, advising them how to care for them and in providing milk routes to take up their milk daily. He also sees that the farmers patronizing the plant are dealt with in a satisfactory manner. Mr. Huckabee was introduced by Walter B. Wilson, chairman of the program committee for the day.

Collin Needs More Milk Cows.

The speaker told the Rotarians of the many advantages of farm dairying to Grayson county which would equally apply to Collin. He stated that more Jersey milk cows meant less Johnson grass and means that the Bermuda grass hill sides and bottoms could be more profitably utilized by grazing them.

More of these animals on Collin county farms would mean larger crop yield. Feeding livestock on the farm where the feed is grown retains the fertility consumed by the crops in growing and gives the elements back to the land from which they are taken. He made a very practical address and was heartily cheered when he closed.

International Rotary.

President Bill Rhea made some announcements relative to Rotary Internationale that is to convene in Dallas Monday, May 27 and to continue until May 31. He read a list of ten Rotarians from the McKinney club who will serve as ushers in helping to look after the visitors. The McKinney club registered 100 per cent for the convention.

About 46 nations will have their representatives in Dallas during the convention. Many McKinney folks, who are not Rotarians, will attend the convention in order to see this vast cosmopolitan assembly of delegates. It is estimated that 10,000 Rotarians will attend.

Among the visitors of the day present were: W. R. Norton, a former Collin man but now a Corpus Christi banker; Ray Gillette of Centralia, Ill., and Dewitt Huckabee of Sherman, Texas.

SENIOR BANQUET HELD.

In conclusion of a week of social festivities and good times, the girls of the senior class of the Boyd High school entertained with a banquet, naming as the honor guests, the boys of the class, at the First Methodist church Friday night. Around a banquet table were seated the eighty-five members of the class and Prof. and Mrs. Jack Ryan, sponsors of the class. The class colors of pink and white were carried out in the decoration of the banquet table. Pink and white larkspur was used in artistic manner along the center of the tables, which were arranged in a square. Pink and white place cards marked places for the girls and boys and the sponsors. Carnival souvenirs of confetti, balloons, whistles and caps were given as favors. A four-course dinner was served by the Social Workers of the First Methodist church. Prof. Ryan acted as toastmatser of this happy occasion. Miss Frances Couch, vice-president of the class gave a toast of welcome to the honor guests, the boys of the class. Bill Johnson, president, responded to this welcome. The class poem was given by Miss Mary Elizabeth Rasor, the class prophecy by Miss Jean Posey, the class history by Miss Minnie Belle Perry and the last will and testament of the class by Stewart Jernigan. Miss Louise Cameron toasted Prof. and Mrs. Ryan, who were presented with a beautiful chair as a gift from the class. Miss Serreida Morrow gave the presentation toast.

Concluding the graduation program of the week will be the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning at the First Christian church delivered by Dr. C. S. Weaver, pastor, and on Monday night the seniors will receive their doplomas at the Pope theater, Hon. Cullen F. Thomas of Dallas delivering the commencement address.

MANY COLLIN FARMS BEING REFENCED AGAIN

Many Collin farmers, who tore away their fences some years ago, are now again rebuilding them. Fences are needed where farmers give much attention to live stock.

Our farmers have about come to the conclusion that a balanced farm program is impossible without more attention to live stock breeding and poultry raising.

Where a farm is fenced, sheep, cattle and hogs can be raised to advantage by grazing them on Johnson and Bermuda grass infested fields and running them on stubble-land and stalk-land after the crops have been taken off of them. In this way valuable feedstuff is saved by the live stock and translated into clear money for the wise farmer, who is keeping up his fences so he can graze his fields and thereby profit by the gleanings. Saving the waste grass and feedstuff adds to the farm's annual net profit. Live stock build up soil fertility and bring about larger crop yields. Surplus live stock sold bring in additional ready cash between crop seasons. Live stock materially help the farmer to keep his place cleaner of obnoxious grasses and weeds, thereby lessening hard farm labor.

Every farm should be fenced and cross-fenced. Fences mean more dependable farm prosperity.

WASHING RAINS EXPOSED ONIONS TO SUN DAMAGE

Dr. C. C. York of Princeton was in the city yesterday. He states that recent heavy rains have washed the dirt away from a considerable portion of the slip onion crop, leaving the bowl exposed to the sun and weather. However, as soon as the ground is dry enough the dirt can be plowed back to them again, and thus protect them from sunburn and damage.

Dr. York has 25 or 30 acres in slip onions this year. He says that corn and cotton are doing well and spring oats have been greatly benefited by the recent heavy rains.

Dr. York is of the opinion that seed onions are not a good stand in the Princeton onion-growing territory.

Life Insurance Paid Quickly To a Mother

A life insurance check for $2,500 in the Kansas City Life Insurance company has been delivered by Prof. W. S. Smith to Mrs. Rosa Wilson on the life of her son, the late John E. Wilson, who died May 14. The Kansas City Life is represented at McKinney by the firm of Smith & Skelton, composed of Prof. W. S. Smith and Prof. B. Frank Skelton. The latter sold the policy to the deceased several years ago.

Proof of the death was made in McKinney May 18, and was received by the company at its home office in Kansas City on May 20, and the claim was approved and the check arrived back in McKinney on May 22. This was very quick service which speaks creditably both for the big life insurance company, and also for its local representatives.

Will Morrow, prominent Princeton business man and onion buyer, was in McKinney Thursday afternoon. He states that the slip onion crop is not so good this year in the Princeton territory. The crop is being damaged more or less by lice and he doesn't consider them as good quality as last year, while the acreage is greatly decreased this year as compared with last.

Dr. Robert L. Cowan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, this city, was a visitor in Sherman Friday, going out to Austin college for a visit. His son, James Cowan, who is graduating this week from the Boyd High school, plans to enter Austin college next fall.

COLLIN FARM CONDITIONS ARE BEST OF ANY

G. B. Stinebaugh, cashier of the First National bank of Josephine, and George H. Jones, vice-president and cashier of the First National bank of Nevada, recently returned from a motor trip to Galveston. They enjoyed their visit to the island city very much.

After carefully observing and comparing crop conditions all along from their home to the gulf coast, Mr. Stinebaugh is of the opinion that Collin has the best crop prospects of any county through which they journeyed. In some places of Central and South Texas, cotton had to be planted over two or three times in sections where it and other crops were badly injured by the continued drouth that was broken only a few days ago by the big rains that fell generally over the state.

Mr. Stinebaugh says that Collin farmers should feel thankful to be located in this county this year that seems to be more highly favored than most any other in the state.

M'KINNEY HIGH LIONS CONQUER MARSHALL LADS

TAKE TWO OUT OF THREE GAMES FROM THE INVADING MAVERICKS

McKinney High Lions clinched their hold on the bi-state high school baseball championship a little tighter here the past week-end when they defeated the invading Marshall High Mavericks in two out of three games, winning the series.

Marshall, while not making a strong bid for the state championship, felt rather haughty since they had won 15 out of 17 games this season and the East Texas championship. They returned to East Texas with the knowledge that they had met a team much their superior in every phase of the game, as a look at the box score will indicate.

As related in Saturday's Daily Courier-Gazette McKinney won the seriers' opener here Friday, 6 to 2, when Nicholas hurled a great game for his school, allowing only two hits, while McKinney was swatting the offerings of Mr. Reeves and Mr. Johnson all over the lot, Reeves being sent to the showers in the fourth.

Miss Susan Dowell is spending the week in Dallas. She is there for the graduation of her nephew, George I. Goodenow.

Mother of Celina Woman Died at New Mexico Home

Mrs. Tom Goodnight of Celina returned to her home there Sunday from Elida, New Mexico, where she had been at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Milus J. Stevenson, whose death occurred May 17, after a long illness following a stroke of paralysis.

Mrs. Stevenson before her marriage was Miss Caroline Hall, born August 1, 1857, in East Tennessee. She was married to Milus J. Stevenson in Kentucky on Christmas day, 1876, who survives. Of a family of eight children born to this union the following survive: Mrs. Tom Goodnight of Celina, Mrs. Bessie Hard of Frisco, Mrs. Leota Bell of Hale center, A. E. Stevenson of Abilene, and S. H. Stevenson of Elida, N. M. All were present at the death of their mother with the exception of Mrs. Hard of Frisco.

Mrs. Stevenson and her husband had been married 53 years and she had long been a member of the Baptist church.

Wylie Resident Died On Friday; Burial Saturday

W. H. (Bud) Brigham of Wylie died in that city Friday morning, and was buried in the Wylie cemetery Saturday afternoon by his Masonic brothers. He was 70 years of age, a life-long Methodist, and a better man never lived in the entire county. He leaves a wife and several children to mourn his demise.

A very large crowd attended the funeral. Services were conducted by the pastor of the Methodist church at Wylie, Rev. W. N. Vernon. These editors had known and respected Bud Brigham for many years, and mourn with his loved ones and his friends upon his passing on.

AN ENJOYABLE VISIT IS MADE TO SUNNYBROOK FARM

OWNED BY MR. AND MRS. DYSART, 10 MILES NORTH OF McKINNEY

Gibson Caldwell, manager of the Collin County Mill & Elevator Co., and wife and Walter B. Wilson of this paper and wife, were 6 o'clock dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dysart one evening recently on Sunnybrook farm, located ten miles north of McKinney.

Mr. and Mrs. Dysart enjoy an enviable reputation for unstinted hospitality in their farm home, which is provided with practically every convenience that a McKinney city home has with the exception of natural gas for fuel. They have hot and cold water, electric lights from their own little home electric plant, telephone, radio, bath and sewerage. Their pantry and cellar contain a variety of home produced and home conserved foods that doubtless cannot be surpassed in either quantity or variety on any other farm in the entire county.

Country ham and old-fashioned red-streaked ham gravy comprised the meat for the meal by the special request of Mr. Caldwell. After partaking of this real country ham it is our opinion that Mr. Dysart understands the art to perfection of curing his home produced meat. We never tasted more deliciously cured, sweet country ham in all our lives. Other articles of diet consisted of new home-grown English peas, tender string-beans, carrots, fresh potatoes, ripe dewberries and raspberries, peach butter, preserves, and jellies of several kinds, cornbread cooked from home grown and ground corn on Sunnybrook farm on its own little grist mill, Sunnybrook produced honey, delicious yellow, sweet Jersey butter ,iced tea, ice-cold sweetmilk and buttermilk. The editor was especially interested in the fresh buttermilk, which he sparingly (?) sampled, much to the mortification of his wife and the other two guests.

A Model Garden.

The Sunnybrook farm garden was never better than it is this year. In it are immense growing cabbage heads already matured, ripe dewberries, beets large enough to eat, onions, radishes, English peas, snap-beans by the peck, carrots, parsley, garlic, potatoes tomatoes cucumbers, cantaloupes and many other garden and truck varieties rapidly coming on to maturity. Several trees of ripe plums afforded the visitors another treat, also a tree of ripe cherries and grape arbors make a real picture as they are loaded down with many bunches of green fruit that will soon begin to ripen. One tree of early peaches are also about ripe enough to eat.

Cotton Squares.

Most of the cotton, as well as the truck patches have already been worked out and plowed since the heavy rains. Mrs. Dysart's cotton patch is already showing a few squares. Oats and wheat on the farm are also good and are beginning to show that rich, golden color that appears just before these crops enter into the final ripening stage. Mr. Dysart has several acres of mixed grain—spring sown oats, barley, and spring wheat, which he will thresh and grind for poultry, hogs and other live stock feed.

Poultry and Live Stock.

Sunnybrook farm has several hundred young chickens ranging from tiny chicks to good-size fryers. Mrs. Dysart also has about 60 or 75 young turkeys already hatched off and in a thrifty, growing condition, with other turkey hens setting. Mr. Dysart has a small flock of well-bred sheep that are both profitable in a money way and valuable in the way of keeping his pastures cleaned of weeds and objectionable grass. He has plenty of hogs to make his next year's meat and young pigs coming on. He has some good Jersey milch cows and young Jersey heifers, work stock and plenty of farm tools and implements.

Cellar and Shop.

The Dysart home cellar, which is under the house and entered from the porch, is filled with home produced lard, hams, shoulders, dried and canned beef, soup, meats of all kinds of country sausage, canned goods of every variety, etc. The sides of the cellar are concreted and the bottom is gravel. It is dry and kept neatly arranged, and in a perfect sanitary condition.

Mr. Dysart has a mill house in which he has a grist mill, on which he grinds his own meal and flour for whole wheat bread, barley and rye for bread and any kind of grain that he may wish to crush for chickens, turkeys, pigs, calves and other live stock. The motor also is utilized in pumping the water from the never failing spring and power for running the washing machine and milk separator.

Trees and Flowers.

The Dysart home is a large, two-story, frame structure fronting south and surrounded by pretty shade trees with a profusion of beautiful flowers, vines and yard shrubbery and grass that look their best at this particular late spring season of the year. Mr. Dysart has plenty of electric light wiring and globes for extension when he and Mrs. Dysart wish to entertain friends out in their yard.

He understands budding and grafting, and in this manner improves his fruit trees and pecan trees growing on his farm. He has some of the best improved paper-shell pecans in the county.

Early Settler Eastern Denton County Here

Among the scores of people from West Collin and Eastern Denton county here this week attending the trial of the State vs. McIntire, for the killing of Wallace Staley, was Wayne Robertson who for 60 years, or longer, had lived on his farm about 2 miles east of Little Elm, and about 5 miles west of Frisco.

Mr. Robertson is about the last one of the old settlers who used to live in that section. We mean of the pioneers, such as Rev. Wm. Allen, Jas. Robertson, P. T. Holmes, Henderson Robertson, Lawson and Lewis Robertson, Beverly Rogers, Geo. Sneathen, Billy Holmes, Jas. Newman, Henry Hill, Cole White, Chas. Smith, and others.

Mr. Robertson is now 86 years of age, and has almost lost his eye sight. But he gets around well for one of his age under these conditions. He was accompanied by his son, Geo. Robertson, of Frisco. We had the pleasure of meeting him and a talk over old times. For we had known Mr. Robertson for over 40 years. We used to visit out in his section and attend camp meeting at Bethel, Zion, and at Little Elm. It was an all day job to drive out and back those days, for we had no autos, no roads, just narrow strips between barb wire fences.

Mr. Robertson chuckled over the trips this editor used to take when he had to drive for miles in one direction and then for half an hour drive in a direction that meant not a mile gained toward our final destination. We used to drive through his pasture and by his house, so as to get around some muddy stretch in some lane, and in that way lose time and drive a mile out of the way. But Mr. Robertson never kicked at us. For we were careful to always shut and latch the gate after passing through. Town boys were not always careful and it often resulted in stock being turned out into lanes or other pastures.

Mr. Robertson is one of the oldest ex-Confederate veterans in all that section. He has often contributed interesting stories of early days in the army and afterwards during the reconstruction period when that section of Denton and Collin were being brought back under the plow. We have printed several of his articles in our papers. He always contributes to the Denton-Record-Chronicle, that being his home county paper.

Mr. Robertson is a fine old gentleman to talk to. He is wide awake to the great strides made these days. We enjoyed talking about the damming up of Big Elm. It seemed so utterly out of the thoughts of any of us of those days. The idea of damming up all Southeast Denton County was some big vision.

Mr. Robertson was happy to meet a number of his old friends while here. We certainly did enjoy meeting him.

DO YOU CARE?

YOU NEVER SAW ANYTHING LIKE IT!

And if you really care anything about putting your dear loved ones away, by the very best method, which will undoubtedly keep them out of the cold wet grave and fully protect them for ever, you certainly will feel much pride and really be glad to buy one of these Surface Mausoleums for each member of your family and have them installed at once for future use. In this way you can have the satisfaction of seeing and knowing just where and how your dear ones will be cared for when the time comes. Other folks are doing it. And you will too, after a thorough investigation. So why not come or ask us to bring the miniature model to your home and let us explain the quality features of this modern repository for the dead. It's different—It's a proven success—It's beautiful and provides a finished grave complete with marker. It's durable and will stand for ages like a solid stone of the earth. It's cost is reasonable and within reach of all.

No other undertaking firm will be allowed to sell these vaults to you so don't listen to "Knocks" come on and let us prove it to you.

A vault has been installed at Pean Grove cemetery with a temporary hole cut in slab and a glass cover, for your convenience of inspection. When in use there is no hole or glass but the slab is solid and a granite or bronze marker is mounted.

This type of burial appeals to us as being absolutely the very best. We recommend it. And our many years of experience and study into modern methods is back of our judgment.

at 4 o'clock in Fitzhugh cemetery, at Forest Grove. Members of the volunteer fire department of this city were in charge of the last funeral rites over the body of the deceased at the graveside.

Both sets of grandparents of the deceased are buried in Fitzhugh cemetery. They are Mr. and Mrs. Sales Coffey, parents of Sterling P. Coffey, and Mr. and Mrs. V. Rountree, Mrs. S. P. Coffey, the mother, formerly being Miss Ida Rountree. The parents of the deceased were both born and reared in the Forest Grove community.

The uncle of Mrs. S. P. Coffey, Uncle Johnnie Fitzhugh, donated the land where Fitzhugh cemetery is located.

The deceased was one of McKinney's best-known business men. He was known as a big-hearted, generous individual, who never turned down or refused a request for help. It was his boast that he had never refused to sit up with the body of a deceased friend or acquaintance, and frequently Masons and Elks requested him to sit up with a corpse, knowing his willingness to do so.

He was loyal to his home, the Masonic and Elks lodges and to the fire department, being one of its best known members.

The Keller Crouch Funeral home of this city had charge of funeral arrangements.

These editors join in condolence to the breaved parents, sister, brothers and many other relatives in the passing of their loving son and brother and loyal friend and companion.

fine young men and young women, does it excel.

It is also a representative class of the county, Allen, Anna, Valdasta, Melissa, Princeton, Van Alstyne, Westminster and other places in Collin county have representatives in this group just leaving high school.

The group of seniors according to Prof. Jack R. Ryan, has been an exceptional one in the quality of work done in the school room the past year. Permitted to take their examinations one week earlier than other students of this city, every one of the group passed their exams, an outstanding fact when one considers that the class numbers nearly 100 pupils.

Splendid Group of Pupils.

The middle tier of seats in the auditorium of the First Christian church was reserved for the seniors, faculty of the Boyd High and L. A. Scott Junior High school, and board of trustees of our city schools. Marching in first came the board of trustees, followed by the faculty, and they, in turn, by the graduates.

Miss Tennie Strickland played the processional, by Drobegg.

First came 2 low seniors, Odell Wilson and Armyn McKinney, who removed the school colors of blue and gold from each row of seats as the seniors marched in the church.

Officers of the class came first Bill Johnson, class president, and Miss Frances Couch, vice-president, were the first couple. They were followed by Glen Coleman, class treasurer, and Miss Lucille Lovell.

Dr. R. L. Cowan, pastor of the First Presbyterian, who dismissed services at his church for the morning hour, gave the invocation and also read the scripture. The choir, including voices from all churches of the city, rendered two beautiful anthems, "Sound the Battle Cry," and "Not a Sparrow Falleth." Mrs. Joe E. Largent, one of McKinney's most delightful and well-liked vocalists, whose voice on numerous other occasions has enhanced programs of a varied nature, sang "The Lord Is My Light."

The graduates made a most attractive scene as they marched into the church and were seated in the section reserved for them. The young ladies of the class were dressed in white, and never did clothes more become the wearers than those worn by the girl gradautes Sunday. The young men, too, were handsome, arrayed in new suits, which they wore with credit.

The young ladies all carried lovely bouquets of gladiolas in their arms.

Dr. Weaver Speaks.

Dr. Weaver chose for his text the thirty-third verse of the sixth chapter of St. Matthew: "But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

He was happy, he said, to greet the largest class ever to finish at one time from the Boyd High school. Since he had been called upon to deliver the baccalaureate sermon, he explained that a sermon must be some spiritual message.

"I shall endeavor to fulfill that definition as I talk to you graduates this morning."

In the beginning of his talk to the seniors, Dr. Weaver read from a noted statistician who had claimed that 100 years ago the average person had 72 things he wanted, 16 of which were actual necessities.

"That same individual, were he living today," continued the pastor in quoting the statistician, "would have 484 things he wanted, and of that number 94 he must have.

"Thus, we are shown the progress that has been made in the past 100 years. Today, young men and women have a far more serious proposition to live than our forefathers had 100 years ago, because our forbears had suca few wants and desires.

"I do not want to criticize the age we live in," emphasized the speaker. "It is the best age of the world. I am here in defense of the young men and the young women of today. They have not created the conditions in which they live and the multiplicity of inventions with which they are tempted. They are living in an age which we older ones have created for them.

Dr. Weaver referred to some individuals who were inclined to speak of "the good old days" and who wished for their return. "Conditions are not like the so-called good old days," he asserted, "and they never were."

After pointing out the fact that there were $65,000 different articles we lay our hands on when we get out in the world, Dr. Weaver compared this world to a great bazaar, where everything is on a table within our reach, both good and bad, and that it is up to each one of us individually as to what we choose.

At this point Dr. Weaver referred to the many campaigns that one encounters today. "Screaming bill boards raise up on every hand to tempt our youth and suggest them things they should not do.

"What are we going to do about it? We can't pass a resolution forbidding such to be carried on. We must instill in the individual such high principles of justice and character than one can walk in the great bazaar and pass by the show windows of life, safely, getting only what is needed and what will prove beneficial. We must teach the youth what is right. They must have that strength of character to enable them to make proper selections as they go along.

Dr. Weaver referred again to the great change in our existence today and the life our ancestors led 100 years ago. "I am not criticizing the things we use today, but the way we use them and the choices we make. In this modern day world, filled with complexities, we can not put a blind bridle on ourselves and not see the temptations that exist. The only way out is to follow the precept and teaching of Jesus, who urged his followers not to seek for food or clothing, alone, for of such things do the pagans seek. The only way out is to follow his teaching when he said "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.

And if we follow this teaching, we will not go through life loaded down with things material, but will have judgment sufficient to take out what we want and need as we pass through the bazaar of life."

COMMENCEMENT HELD FOR GREER SCHOOL PUPILS

FIRST TIME IN HISTORY OF CITY THAT WARD SCHOOL HOLDS COMMENCEMENT

For the first time in the history of the city, a ward school held graduating exercises, presented diplomas, awarded honors, and listened to an interesting baccalaureate sermon here Thursday night.

The occasion was the graduating exercises of the sixth grade class from the J. L. Greer (North) ward school, held Thursday night at the North McKinney Baptist church. Rev. T. F. Huffman, pastor of that church, delivered the sermon.

Led by Jeff Bright Adams, the graduates marched into the church where special seats were reserved for them. The boys were dressed in white trousers, white shirts, and black ties, while the girls wore white dresses. The boys and girls made an imposing scene.

There were twenty-seven of these graduates who received diplomas. The North Baptist church was packed with friends and relatives of these young ward school graduates, who next fall will enter the L. A. Scott Junior High school.

R. J. STEPHENS TO MANAGE NEW PENNEY STORE

WILL LEAVE IN JUNE OR JULY TO TAKE CHARGE OF MT. PLEASANT STORE

R. J. (Roscoe) Stephens, for the past three years assistant manager of the J. C. Penney company store in McKinney, has received a telegram from the Penney headquarters in New York City, offering him the management of the new store at Mt. Pleasant. Mr. Stephens has accepted the management of this new Penney store, and he, in company with C. M. Cooper, manager of the McKinney store, went to Mt. Pleasant Friday to look over the situation, and make plans for Mr. Stephens' removal to that city.

Prior to his association with the Penney company store here, Mr. Stephens was connected with the Merritt Dry Goods company. He is an able and competent worker in his vocation and his many friends here predict a successful management of the new store at Mt. Pleasant.

Mr. Stephens, wife and three attractive daughters, Misses Corinne, Doris and Margaret, will leave McKinney in June or July for their new home. Their host of friends here regret to see them leave McKinney, but wish for the family all the happiness and success possible in their new home.

Mr. Stephens is a son of County Superintendent and Mrs. S. C. Stephens, while Mrs. Stephens is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Smith, all of McKinney.

The advancement of Mr. Stephens to Mt. Pleasant will necessitate an advancement in the local store. W. F. Algary will become assistant manager of the McKinney store, while Mr. Algary's place will be filled by Choice McClure, another member of the local store's sales force.

Livestock Pay Big Dividends To Farmers

College Station, May 23.—Acre incomes from feedstuff can often be doubled and sometimes trebled by using livestock to market farm-grown feed, according to G. W. Barnes, beef cattle specialist in the Extension service. "Farmers are fast realizing this as evidenced by the fact that in the last six years, exclusive of club boys, 5,000 farmers have demonstrated the feeding of beef cattle; 10,000 the feeding of hogs; and 20,000 the feeding of dairy cattle. Based on a spread of influence of five neighbors working out in their own ways an idea they have seen demonstrated, there are now probably 100,000 farms in Texas, where crop and livestock production are fitted together to raise the farm income.

"What can be accomplished may be judged by the story of W. D. Williams in Dawson county. He owns a square mile of farm land half in cultivation, of which half is in cotton and half in feed. The 400 acres of grass land keep up 35 good Hereford cows. He has recently completed a demonstration in co-operation with his county agent, W. W. Evans, in feeding out a car of farm-produced calves on farm-grown feed.

"At eleven months of age they were eating 17½ pounds of ground milo and 2½ pounds of cottonseed meal per day apiece, together with seven bundles of sorghum. When sold in Fort Worth at 12 cents per pound they weighed 809 pounds each. After deducting $50 per head as the worth of the calves at the beginning of the feeding period, Mr. Williams found that he had netted $48 per ton on his milo maize instead of the $17 the market offered."

Dr. R. G. Mood, presiding elder of the McKinney district, attended the funeral in Arlington this week of Dr. W. J. Johnson, presiding elder of the Wichita Falls district, who died Monday night. Rev. T. H. Osburn, pastor of the Methodist church at Prosper was in McKinney, also en route to attend the funeral.

Miss Hallie Coffey of the Coffey Bros. Drug store in this city was a business visitor in Dallas Friday.

M'KINNEY REALTY CO. SELLS BRICK BUSINESS HERE

One of the biggest deals in McKinney business property, which has been consummated for several years, because it is very seldom that business brick property is offered for sale, was that Thursday when Tom W. Perkins and Frank G. Dowell of the McKinney Realty company sold the two-story brick business house on West Louisiana street for Mrs. Sallie Johnson to Dr. C. G. Comegys of the First National bank, the deal being a cash one.

This brick business house had been in the Johnson family for some fifty years. It originally belonged to Col. Rutabega Johnson and had belonged to John Johnson Jr., for more than forty years, Mrs. Sallie Johnson being the relict of John Johnson Jr., who passed away some few years ago. The building is 36x125, two stories and is forty feet off of the public square, being just west of Cheeves Bros. & Co. Half of the lower story is occupied by the Biggest Little store, Bob Gordon, manager, and part of the second story is occupied by Harris Bros. Grain company.

Please do not list your realty business with the McKinney Realty company unless you desire to sell it because they are on the job, and if a fair and reasonable price is placed upon the property, it will not be in their hands long. The McKinney Realty company thanks Mrs. Johnson for her patronage and Dr. Comegys for his courteous business dealings.

Ex-Sheriff W. A. Kerby was able to be up and down town Monday after an illness lasting for several days. His many friends in this city are mighty glad to see him up again.
